Program Objectives

The Institute uses an integrated curriculum centered on the issues of today and the skills needed for tomorrow. It is a rigorous, demanding program that seeks, through the convergence of classroom and real-world situations, to:

- Develop visionary leaders who can inspire people to make significant contributions and move their organization forward;
- Promote innovative, out-of-the-box thinking;
- Energize accomplished managers with new insights, information, and strategies to tackle the challenges of an increasingly complex environment;
- Equip participants for the roles of coach, teacher, motivator and strategist;
- Move participants from their comfort zones, to expand their focus and thinking beyond pharmacy practice, and to foster their development of visionary leadership skills;
- Offer a high-quality, academic environment (not a pharmacy-centric environment);
- Provide a forum to enhance the transfer of knowledge and learning;
- Enable critical examination of roles and required leadership skills;
- Address individual capabilities that are not part of typical career development; and
- Link strategic thinking and behavior as well as organizational action.

Mini Project – Strategic Implementation Project

The mini project is a participant-driven initiative focused on a leadership challenge and/or strategic issue the participant faces within the context of the participant’s own organization. Each Institute participant will use the week to develop a mini project that helps advance pharmacy practice at his or her hospital or health system. The project connects the Institute’s curriculum with the “real world” issues faced by the participant and will serve as an anchor for a post-program project and collaboration with other PLI participants, a panel of leaders, and Institute alumni who will serve as project mentors.

The electronic application includes topics that should be addressed in the participant’s description of his/her proposed project. Applicants must ensure that he/she has received buy-in from senior leadership, including the director of pharmacy and a corporate-level executive, for the project.

The projects are designed to be completed within 3 months. When finished, the participant will submit the project to a panel of reviewers for evaluation. One participant will be recognized as the developer of the best project, receive a monetary award, and complimentary entry to the ASHP Midyear Clinical Meeting. The awardee will be recognized at the Pharmacy Leadership Institute Breakfast, which is held at the ASHP Midyear.
